

The Dresden Dolls

8

Yes, Virginia

Roadrunner

I have no idea if it's cool to like this group. I saw them on TV being interviewed by that creepy Popworld guy at some festival and they looked wrong. Then they performed—she does the piano and sings and he's the drummer with his manic V for Vendetta look—and they looked really wrong. I think they mainly appeal to goths and mixed-up people, the French. Their songs are great, though, catchy. I'm not saying you need The Dresden Dolls in your life—you probably don't. But I'd say, you know, consider it.

DAVID BERGMAN