

Spill: April 2006

The Dresden Dolls

'Yes, Virginia'

17.04.06

Roadrunner

One boy, one girl, very loud drums, outlandish dress and a sound echoing from a long, long time ago. The White who? Naaah mate, we're talking The Dresden Dolls and new album 'Yes Virginia' of course. An amazingly original band, the Dolls sound like an explosion in a dressing up box shared by the Phantom of the Opera and The Rocky Horror Picture Show. 'Sex Changes' is 'Girls and Boys' with thrash piano soundtracking Tim Burton's nightmares, while the heart-melting 'Dirty Business' highlights the raw beauty of Amanda Palmer's voice and lyrics. Jack White should be licking their boots. Sublime.

Matthew Butler

92%